King Humbert Leaves Italy For Exile In Portugal

ROME, (AP) -- The royal palace announced Thursday that King Humbert had left Italy for exile in Portugal.

The king's departure came as Premier Alcide de Gasperi was granted new powers as acting chief of state in a temporary compromise solution of Italy's political crisis.

Queen Marie Jose and her two children went to Portugal last week, soon after it became apparent that Italy had voted to overturn the royal house of Savoy in favor of a republic. Humbert's father, King Victor Emmanuel, went into exile in Egypt May 9, clearing the throne for his son, King Victor Emmanuel III.

Earlier in the week, bloody riots had erupted in Naples, Turin and Rome, provoked by Humbert's reluctance to quit the throne until the supreme court ruled on petitions charging fraud in the election that deposed him.

Meanwhile, final election returns showed that even if the blacklists and ballot fraud went to the victor in returns from June 2 plebiscite.

King Humbert, in a proclamation made public five hours after his departure for Lisbon, charged the Italian government with an illegal act in naming Premier de Gasperi as provisional chief of state while he (the king) still was occupying the throne.

Film Comic Dies In Car Accident

LOS ANGELES, (AP) -- Charles Butterworth, 36, whose subtle grollieres and tangled metaphors carried him to success as a film comic, died Thursday shortly after his automobile struck a lamp post, catapulting him to the pavement.

The veteran actor was returning from a night club when his car, a 1935 Buick, skidded more than 50 feet and struck the light pole, shattering the windshield and crushing the car.

Butterworth was born in South Boston, Mass. He was drawn to Hollywood in 1930 and appeared in his first film, "Life of the Party."

Among his latest were "This is the Army" and "Follow the Boys."

The deputy and Pierce had gone to the Morris home following a report livestock had been neglected.

Swanson said he heard shots and called to Pierce "Did you get him?"

"No, he got me," Pierce replied.

At that time the sheriff to town, where he was pronounced dead, Swanson returned with a posse.

Hollywood Killing of French Movies Raises Storm in U.K. Film Centre

By Basil Dean

LONDON, - Hollywood's practice of buying up story rights of outstanding French movies and then insisting that the original narrative and all scenes of the movie be destroyed is infuriating highbrow British movie goers.

The process has been going on for some years - one of the most notable results was the film "Algiers" with Charles Boyer and Hedy Lamarr which was a remake of the French classic "Pepe Le Moko." London critics have never forgiven Hollywood for this.

Waters recently boiled over, however, with announcement that another French thriller "Le Jour Se Leve" is also to be destroyed since Hollywood plans to remake it.

British, especially Londoners and critics employed by national newspapers, take French movies seriously. In recent months, few critics have resigned tolerance toward Hollywood films. Three luxurious London theatres show nothing but French movies (with English subtitles) and revive pre-war favorites time and again.

BUENOS AIRES, (AP) -- A complete shutdown of the Argentine steel industry in about two weeks was predicted Thursday unless manufacturers are able to obtain larger quantities of oats. Officials blamed the difficulties on "black markets."

Maritimes, Alberta Chided For Apathy

By Richard Sanburn

OTTAWA, (CP) -- The way to put the Maritime provinces back on the map was for its people to think more about the development of western Canada, Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the commonsense Thursday.

To Maritime complaints about injustices in the proposed redistribution bill, Mr. Gardiner said the future of the Maritimes lay in industrialization, with the products of those industries going to feed Canada through a more active Hudson Bay route and along the Great Lakes.

He chided both the Maritimes and Alberta. He didn't know any places in Canada where people did less to get their industry established. However, for the Alberta foothills and B.C. he saw great future and bigger populations.

Members Suggest Pipeline, Subsidies, To Relieve Fuel Shortage in East

By R. H. Hardy

OTTAWA, E. G. Hansell, (S.C., Lethbridge) and John R. MacNicol (Prog. Con., Toronto) urged the government to investigate the possibility of piping waste natural gas from Turner Valley to eastern Canada to relieve coal shortages.

Mr. MacNicol said that the project would cost "only $30,000,000" and would be worthwhile even as an experiment.

John Blackmore, (S.C., Lethbridge), argued that Alberta coal had never been given a fair trial in eastern Canada. According to his information, when it reached Ontario it had been mixed with trash and delivered as Alberta coal. He wanted larger subsidies on Alberta coal.

Propose U.N. Create Development Board

NEW YORK, (AP) -- The United States Thursday proposed the creation of an international atomic development authority to handle the development and use of atomic energy and agreed to destroy its atomic bombs and cease their manufacture once an adequate system of control has been set up.

The proposal was made to the United Nations atomic energy commission by Bernard M. Baruch, United States representative on the commission, at its first session.

Mr. Baruch made it plain the U.S. felt there must be no veto power in the authority controlling atomic energy.

The United States' elder statesman told the commission and the world that his country proposes "the creation of an international atomic development authority, to which should be entrusted all phases of the development and use of atomic energy."

When adequate controls have been set up by a treaty among the United Nations, "including the renunciation of the bomb as a weapon," Mr. Baruch said the U.S. proposes:

- "1. Manufacture of atomic bombs shall stop."
- "2. Existing bombs shall be disposed of pursuant to the terms of the treaty."
- "3. The authority shall be in possession of full information as to the know-how for the production of atomic energy."

Recover $10,000, Seize Four After Eastern Bank Robbery

WINDSOR, (CP) -- Police Thursday night recovered between $10,000 and $15,000 of loot from a bank robbery along with some bonds on Peche Island in the Detroit river and arrested three men and a woman in their search for bandits who held up the Provincial Bank of Canada branch at nearby Tecumseh Thursday.

Six police forces -- Tecumseh, Windsor City, provincial, suburban Riverside, Detroit police and patrol and United States Coast Guard -- rescue ships and two airplanes concentrated on the tiny island to land between 25 and 30 policemen in their search for the bank robbers.

The planes zoomed over the water during the hunt and finally the fugitives were trapped at the west end of the island.

Police took into custody three men they identified as Clifford Remus, 24; John Zerk, 26, both of Windsor, Donald Louie, 31, Rouyn, Que., and a woman, Mrs. Helen Reineke, 37, of Windsor.

Bank employees said four men entered the bank and were about to close while one remained in the car. Police speculated that one of the robbers was a woman masquerading as a man. In any case, they say there is one fugitive still at large.

The robbers were followed east to Bar Harbor about four miles from here and residents said they saw members of the group in a boat equipped with an outboard motor and head for Peche Island.

May Order Strike Of 100,000 In Month

TORONTO, (CP) -- A new policy of co-ordinated strike action on which all Canadian Congress of Labor unions will go out on strike simultaneously in individual negotiations in the unions' co-ordinated wage-hour drive.

Breakdown, was predicted Thursday night by Alex MacAuslane, vice-president of the C.G.L. of the policy he suggested.

It might mean more than 100,000 workers in our major industries would walk out in simultaneous strike action within a month. The strike would be taken by the United Electrical Workers, the United Rubber Workers, United Steel Workers, and Mr. MacAuslane reported, negotiations for wage increases by the United Automobile Workers have "brought negative results."

Government Offers Final Ship Proposal

OTTAWA, (CP) -- What appeared to be a final government proposal for settlement of the 13-day lake shipping strike Thursday received endorsement of the Canadian Seamen's union (C.L.S.) but decision of the union operators withheld pending a meeting Monday.

The proposals provided for immediate application to the National War Labor board by all shipping companies for an eight-hour day, in place of 12 hours, on lake ships; re-employment of all strikers; government proposals for settlement of the 13-day lake shipping strike Thursday received endorsement of the Canadian Seamen's union (C.L.S.) but decision of the union operators withheld pending a meeting Monday.

While the next step appeared to be a decision of the operators meeting, the government, failing acceptance by the operators, was expected either to take control of lake shipping or have those companies agreeable to the settlement formula sign it.

Economy Ordered In Wrapping Paper

Already felt by Edmonton newspapers, the shortage of paper as a result of the B.C. loggers' strike was having its effects on the general public Thursday.

Clerks in all department stores have been instructed not to waste paper and to save it wherever possible. Goods already packaged are not being wrapped again or put in paper bags.

Wholesale houses reported low paper stocks with no relief in sight. One house was out of paper towels, used in huge quantities throughout the city. Others were low on paper cups for drinking purposes and others were allotting small quantities of toilet tissue and wrapping paper and paper bags to their customers.

The paper situation now is more acute than at any time during the war, it was stated by one dealer.

Economy also was being stressed by grocers and butchers who were asking their customers to put wrapped articles into their shopping bags.

Wholesalers who get their paper from the east were "sitting pretty" as yet. They said the situation there has not deteriorated.

Little is again receiving automobiles and trucks from the United States.

Australia Fills Food Assignment

CANBERRA — Victualing the British Pacific fleet during the last 12 months has been among the many important food orders met by Australia. Although the fleet has now moved its base from Sydney to Hong Kong, it will continue to be largely dependent upon food supplied by Australia for a long time to come.

During the last two years Australia has supplied the British admiralty with 360,000,000 pounds of food, about two-thirds of which went to the Pacific fleet. This was made up of large quantities of dairy products, meat, jams, canned and dried fruits, eggs, potatoes, canned vegetables, fats and cereals.

Throughout the Second Great War Australian food, particularly meat and dairy products, played an important part in maintaining the British civilian ration. During the first three years Australia sent Britain 7,800,000,000 pounds of dairy products, meat, canned and dried fruits, flour, eggs, sugar and wheat worth $247,040,000.

Then Pearl Harbor

Then came Pearl Harbor the threat of a Japanese invasion of Australia and the subsequent influx of hundreds of thousands of United States troops into the South-Pacific area.

In return for diverting food for Britain to American forces in the Pacific, the U.S. government undertook to send equivalent amounts to Britain, thus saving valuable time and shipping.

Despite this need for feeding Australia's men, manpower problems, chronic shipping difficulties (tankers, shortages of refrigeration ships and the long detour around the Cape) and one of the worst droughts in her agricultural and pastoral history, Australia still managed to send to the United Kingdom during the last three years of the war more than 2,000,000,000 pounds of food valued at approximately $100,000,000.

Four Billion Pounds

During the last two calendar years, Australia has sent nearly 4,000,000,000 pounds of food to the United Kingdom. British forces and other destinations nominated by the British ministry of food.

Present demands on Australia for food are higher than at any time during the war and will tax the country's resources to the utmost.

As well as being needed to maintain Australia's civil population and service personnel, Australian food output is being drawn upon by the British services in India, Ceylon, Burma and Singapore, the British admiralty, Allied services in the Pacific, the British ministry of food, people in the liberated areas in the Pacific, and by UNRRA.

Sees Improvement In Stage Play Art

LONDON—Sir Max Beerbaum, in a broadcast on playacting, said that the stage play was, on the whole, a better kind of art than it used to be.

"In my very young days the play was generally something adapted from the French and it suffered greatly in the Channel crossing," Sir Max described himself as very mellow.

If the bad old times, with them the bad old tricks, were to return again I think I should rather welcome them for old time's sake. And if intellectual ideas were to vanish from the boards, I am not sure my heart would break.

Urges South Africa Increase Population

CAPE TOWN—South Africa's manpower is insufficient to deal with the enormous tasks ahead, Premier Smuts said in a speech at Pretoria. He emphasized the necessity for increasing the population to do justice to future plans of the country.

Both the Round Daily Mail and the Star devoted leading editorials to the subject recently, pointing out the urgency of introducing new blood and new ideas into the Union.

The papers said immigrants from Britain with the right training and occupations are most desirable and the government should encourage them to come.

Nazis Were Asked to Surrender Arms to Chetniks, Court is Told

BEUGRADE, (AP) — Gen. Draja Mihailovic told the Yugoslav military court Thursday he and Col. Robert H. McDowell, chief of a United States mission to Chetnik headquarters in 1944, in a conference with the Germans that year proposed that they turn over their arms to the Chetniks in return for a promise of arms for the Chetniks in return for their coming defeat.

Marshal Tito's government in its indictment of Mihailovic charged that the Chetnik leader and Col. McDowell held parleys with the Germans in 1944.

Mihailovic, testifying with apparent reluctance Thursday, said he and Col. McDowell refused to discuss the "danger of Communism" with a German officer named Sterker, a deputy of the chief of the administrative staff of the German command in Yugoslavia in September, 1944.

Mihailovic denied the prosecution's contention that a meeting with the late Milan Nedovic, puppet premier of German-occupied Yugoslavia, resulted in a promise of arms for the troops in exchange for an agreement not to use the arms against the Germans.

Government Plans to Dispossess Inefficient British Landowners

BOURNEMOUTH, ENGLAND, (CP) — The Labor government plans to dispossess inefficient landowners, Agriculture Minister Tom Williams told the Labor party conference Thursday.

If the farmers can seek the farm worker for inefficiency and the government can seek the farmer for inefficiency, I see no real reason why we should not seek the landowner for inefficiency if he fails to fulfill the conditions required," Mr. Williams said.

But although the conference refused Wednesday to condemn Robert Bavin's conduct of British foreign affairs, it passed a resolution Thursday criticizing farm policies and calling on the government to improve working and welfare conditions.

Herbert Morrison, Lord president of the council, told the conference that British reconstruction would be completed this year "but 1947 will still be pretty tough."

Mr. Morrison said the government would refuse to direct labor and hoped increased production would be attained by intensive mechanization.

Spurs Conservatives to Breach Liberal Fortress in Quebec

WINNIPEG, (CP) — Progressive Conservatives should not regard Quebec as "an impenetrable fortress" to capture, said J. A. Macdonald, M.P. for Muskoka-Ontario, told the annual meeting of the Manitoba Progressive Conservative association Thursday.

True, Mr. King (Prime Minister King) has used it as his magic key to power for nearly 30 years. Conspiration has been the pass word and he has never given us a plenty of trouble.

"A good many of the Quebec members, although they still vote for Mr. King, have no great regard for him and on such matters as the flag and Canada Day, they give him a plenty of trouble."

"If we can pursue a steady policy of friendliness to Quebec — and (Progressive Conservative leader) John Bracken's utterances pave the way for this — there is no way we can win a considerable number of seats in the province."

Russia 'Completely Disagrees' On Compromise Plan For Spain

NEW YORK, (AP) — Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko Thursday expressed complete disagreement with a compromise plan for the United Nations security council to refer the Spanish question to the general assembly but did not at this point invoke his power of veto.

The council adjourned until Monday with the Spanish question undecided.

Mr. Gromyko's stand against the compromise plan as well as a bitter attack on the conclusions of the sub-committee which investigated Spain made it certain that the delegates would have to arrive at another solution if the Spanish question is to be solved on in the council or sent forward to the assembly.

The sub-committee had recommended that the general assembly call upon the United Nations to break relations with Franco until he is in power in September. Under the compromise plan favored by the majority, the general assembly would be authorized to decide when and if to call for a break in relations or take whatever action it deems appropriate.

Mr. Gromyko said there "is no justification" for the council declining to take action on Franco's original proposal to break with Franco Spain immediately.

Fining of Neglectful Parents Results

In Lessening of Juvenile Delinquency

Heavy fines imposed upon parents for neglecting to care properly for their children have been responsible for a considerable drop in juvenile delinquency, according to Judge C.F. Willis of the juvenile court.

The practice of fining parents was instituted by Judge Willis early this year and in March alone parents paid more than $400 to the juvenile court.

Longer hours of daylight and increased attention by organizations to provide recreation for children also factors in lessening juvenile crime Judge Willis stated.

The board reserved its decision regarding service between Yellowknife and Ft. Francis Bay, two points in the Yellowknife field. Operations will begin immediately.

U.S. Radio Chains Lure Canadians

By Chester Bloom

OTTAWA, (AP) — Canada's "First Radio Chain" in promoting talented entertainers, musicians and broadcasters on the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's network continues to be the lure of wealthy United States networks, the C.B.C.'s director-general of programs, E.L. Bushnell, told the House radio committee Thursday.

Alan Young, well-known Canadian comedian, for example, said Mr. Bushnell "is quite likely being paid in the U.S. 10 times what he is paid in Canada."

Advertisers, he said, are willing to pay writers on their payroll and a good one seldom receives less than $500 a week.

"One of the top flight U.S. shows costs over $25,000 a week for 30 minutes," he said.

Postal Building Site Is Bought

The dominion government on Thursday purchased the site for a new postal building, property on the east side of 98 st. north of 104 ave., as the site of the new building to be erected in connection with general development of facilities at the C.P.R. depot. The purchase price was $4,300.

Sales of the city-owned property are particularly heavy during this week as prospective home-builders purchased 13 lots in the recently re-surveyed Bellevue addition abutting on the highlands along bus route.

Indian Training Draws Criticism

By Richard Santorum

OTTAWA, (AP) — A joint committee reviewing Indian affairs was told Thursday that vocational training and residential schools were just enough to make the Indians dissatisfied.

The committee, which was set up to work for somebody else, but not enough to work for themselves.

The statement came from Norman Lockers, Bradford, himself a Six Nations Indian and now a practicing carpenter, a graduate of a residential school.

Mr. Lockers said that we were told what to do but not why it was done. We were not told why we were rotated, nor why animals were fed or cared for in a certain way. Not the 10 percent of the Indian population who graduate from residential schools go back to the reservations," he said.

Charges Are Filed

Against Petrillo

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Attorney-General Tom Clark of the United States Thursday announced the filing of criminal information charging James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians (A.F.M.) union with coercive practices affecting radio broadcasting.

Mr. Clark said "The charge is the outcome of Petrillo's alleged violation of the Lea act which became federal law April 16, 1945."

The act provides for up to one year's imprisonment and $1,000 fine for any union which compels or attempts to compel broadcasters to hire more employees than they want.

Veterans' Club Officially Opened

OTTAWA, (AP) — The United States government is getting "most helpful" in aiding Canada to obtain her coal requirements Reconstruction Minister Mr. Howie said Thursday in the commons.

Mr. Howie spoke after J.L. Church (Prog. Con. Toronto Broadview) moved the adjournment of the house to discuss the situation arising with what he said was a United States "embargo" against the carrying of coal by vessels on the Great Lakes.

Howe Says U.S. 'Most Helpful' In Helping Canada Get Coal

The minister said he wished to correct a few misunderstandings and one of these was that the United States had imposed an embargo on coal shipments to Canada. This was not so.

What had happened, he continued, was that coal had been moved into United States lake ports in excess of their capacity to load. Therefore, shipments to the ports had been stopped.

Mr. Howie said the dominion entered the summer season with stocks usually depleted. Movement of coal had been difficult during the war and stocks had been low this year. The situation had been further aggravated by the United States coal strikes and the strike of Canadian Great Lakes seamen.

The dominion is 5,500,000 tons short. Normally, she produces 17,000,000 tons of coal and imports another 10,000,000 tons, the bulk of which went to central Canada.

The government planned to ship to Ontario and Quebec 1,000,000 tons from Alberta but supplies of Canadian coal have been limited by the ability of Canadian railroads to move it.

Mr. Howie said it was not practical from a short-term view for Canada to become self-sufficient in coal.

U.S. to Release Atom Energy In Project to Benefit Man

OAK RIDGE, TENN. — The United States government will open the gate Thursday to the use of atomic energy for benefitting man instead of killing him.

Radio-active substances produced in uranium ovens where the atomic bomb is born will be distributed for the first time to schools, hospitals and laboratories in the United States only, the army's Manhattan Project announced.

The project opens the way for widespread use of substances which can be detected even though invisible and which therefore may be dangerous.

1. Shed new light on processes of human life, normal and abnormal.

2. Provide new information on animal and plant growth and on the way the body uses food and medicine.

3. Help mankind further in making certain products and in tapping natural resources.

It also is possible, scientists said, that the substances may be used directly to treat disease.

A radio-active substance is one that emits atomic particles, or rays. Substances are made radio-active in the uranium ovens by being bombarded with atomic projectiles.

The Manhattan Project gave details on the production of approximately 100 different "radio isotopes" — radio-active forms of common and rare elements produced in the uranium chain-reacting "atom pile" at Oak Ridge.

The isotopes will require special handling because of the danger of producing 37,000,000,000 radiations a second, each ray having energies up to 2,500,000 electron volts.

Esks' Pitcher Connie Thomson Proves He Thrives on Trouble

They say about 25-year-old Connie Thomson, the right-handed pitcher from Kent, Wash., who threw them up there in the interests of the City Senior league Esks, that he doesn't appear to enjoy his pitching chores unless he's doing it trouble.

If there's anything in the suggestion it's a certainty he had a barrel of fun at Renfrew park Thursday night. Thomson allowed the Esks to take a 5-3 triumph over the club's last place team. In the process he left 14 runners stranded on the basepaths, 12 of them in the last five frames.

The Cubs, winless in their last seven starts, put the woe to Thomson's shoulders for 13 hits and worked him for eight passes. Every time Manager Bert Culver's moundmen looked around the infield, particular rly in the latter stages, he found himself looking down his nose at a bevy of eager Cub basemen. It was nerve-wrecking business for all the Esks...excepting Thomson. He didn't appear to mind a bit.

Pete Tedeschi, left fielder, came to his rescue in great fashion in the eighth inning to take him out of one big hole. Cubs slier and shortstop were on base when Tedeschi stepped, when Earl Perali lifted a lazy Texas leaguer into left. There didn't appear to be a hope that the flier would be caught out Tedeschi came roaring in to sweep the ball just inches from the grass and double slier off third to retire the side.

Cats were through then, even though they did kick up a mild fuss in the fifth stanza to count a single marker.

Ralph Morgan, member of the luckless Cubs, paced the hitters with a three-run performance. Esks' Gino Valenti drew two bases on balls and smote a pair of doubles in four trips.

Louis and Conn Show Up Well As Training Period Nears End

FORTMON LAKES, N.J., (AP) — Both Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis and Vincent Nardiello, physical trainer, Dr. Clarence Hagan, gave the operation a going over before a large and distinguished audience Thursday.

Joe slammed five sparring mates freely and looked well.

While Joe was punishing his partners, Dr. Hagan took a few verbal pokes at Dr. Vincent Nardiello, the boxing commission swan who said after Tuesday's workout the champion's blood pressure was jumping around like a mountain goat.

"I can honestly say that Louis is physically fit," Hagan declared.

The crowd, which included former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey and Jim Braddock, could detect little wrong with the big Negro's constitution, though both Jim and Jack seemed to think he looked a trifle on the slow side toward the end of the seven rounds of boxing.

Braddock picked Conn some time ago, but Dempsey hasn't yet named his choice.

DOCTORS GIVE BILLY HAVE NOTICES
GREENWOOD LAKE, N.J., (AP) — The same doctors who took a grave view of Joe Louis' physical condition Thursday gave Billy Conn a clean bill of health.

Their opinion was endorsed by two former heavyweight champions, on hand to watch the Pittsburgh big go through a six-round drill.

The doctors, Dr. Hagan, Dr. Nardiello and Jim Braddock, saw "mean" Conn batter a trio of sparators all over the place.

The New York State Athletic commission doctors, who will check the which Nardiello gave Conn their final pre-fight check for the commission.

Dr. Walker stated flatly "I don't remember any fight in a long time with a blood pressure as stable as Billy's."

Constitutional Changes

J.G. Diefenbaker, speaking in the house of commons for the Progressive Conservatives, and Premier Duplessis, speaking for the government of Quebec, have opposed the federal government's proposed redistribution measure. They object to the details of redistribution as to the intention of the government to seek the necessary change in the constitution without prior consultation with the provinces.

Both are concerned over what may develop in the future if the present constitution is changed without provincial consent. Mr. Diefenbaker thinks that, by chance, the Communist party should ever achieve power in Canada, the present proposal would serve as a precedent for obtaining changes to all sections of the constitution. Mr. Duplessis says the government has no right to sacrifice the future of the country to the people of Canada as a whole elect a Communist or Socialist or any other government. He says that because a majority of Canadians desired that form of government, with all its totalitarianism or its any other form, that the national view should then prevail, as it should today, as against any sectional or provincial view.

Parliament surely should be supreme, and should exercise its sovereignty in the matter of changing the constitution as it affects purely federal matters. If parliament desires to amend the constitution, it should define in which provincial rights are defined, then certainly the provinces should be consulted. But a constitution affecting the provinces should not be subject to the veto of a single province. Here again, surely the majority should prevail.

Redistribution is not a matter of provincial rights under the constitution. It is a question of fair representation for the whole population. The members of parliament surely may be depended on to do what is fair and reasonable, and to heed whatever objections may be voiced by individuals members from any province. It is not up to parliament for at least that much, our system of government, of which we boast, is worth little.

The Mufti Loose Again

The escape of the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, Haj Amin, to France seems likely to intensify the current tension in the Middle East. He has long been the leader of the Arab and irreconcilable wing of the Palestinian Arabs, and his return to their Holy Land may have the most serious consequences. Haj Amin al-Husseini -- to give the Mufti his proper name -- fled to Tignes in 1939, after leading a prolonged and bloody insurrection against the British authorities in Palestine. He and his followers became an active and dangerous agent of the Axis.

He was one of the leaders in the pro-German uprising in Iraq in the spring of 1941. Later he engaged in intrigues in Persia, from which country he escaped, after the Allied occupation, by the help of the Japanese legation. Later still he turned up in the Balkans where he organized a "legion" of Bosnian Muslims to assist the Germans in police operations. This "legion" was, too, he directed a regular propaganda service for the Axis, designed to stir up unrest among the Arabs of the Middle East.

One of the major mysteries of the war was why he was not brought to book as a war criminal, and why he was treated so leniently by the French. Now far the Mufti's pro-Axis activities have diminished his influence among his people remains to be seen. All the indications are that he is still a hero to many, and that even the leaders of the Arab League will listen to him with respect. He must record the fact that whatever influence he possesses will be used against the British.

Scientists, about to set out for the atom tests at Bikini, must be greatly cheered by the intelligence they are told that they'd probably never come back.

Magna Carta Day

June 15 is widely noted throughout the English-speaking world as Magna Carta Day. This year marks the 731st anniversary of the signing of the "great charter" which secured our tradition of ordered liberty under law. Out of the concessions exacted by the barons of England from a tyrannical king have come the fundamental liberties which have proved so vital to our civilization.

In our time these liberties have been challenged as never before, by the cult of the universal state. In the battle-field, the challenge has been victoriously met.

But it persists in more subtle forms, ever here in Canada. The steady widening of government authority, the multiplication of laws and regulations have brought their own dangers. Arbitrary seizure of property, arbitrary arrest and detention, if they have once again become official practice.

The abuses against which the English people fought seven centuries ago are stirring once more.

Magna Carta Day is a good time to remember the ancient warning that "eternal vigilance is the price of freedom."

Truman Vetoes Case Bill

American politics are hard to understand at the best of times, but for changes in recent years have been as puzzling as President Truman's labor policy.

A few weeks ago, the president introduced in congress the most drastic strike-control bill in United States history. This bill gave the administration the right to order the compulsory labor, strikers in vital industries taken over by the government. It also imposed severe penalties on union officers who incited men to go on strike in such industries. Truman presented his emergency legislation only the senate drastically watered it down.

Yet now Mr. Truman vetoes the bill under case which represented the senate's own effort to meet the current crisis. It provided a cooling-off period for strikes, prohibited sympathy strikes, and made unions liable for breaches of their contracts with employers.

Mr. Truman's theory appears to be that the bill is a special emergency measure to cover the present crisis. Once some degree of stability has been restored, he says, that he will further cut on unions is needed. He has, indeed, spoken of the desirability of long-term legislation but he has given no indication of what he wants along this line.

Politics probably has a good deal to do with the president's attitude. He lost a great deal of his later support by his emergency requests. At the same time, he is under heavy pressure from general public opinion to "do something" to end the industrial war.

He and his associates may hope to appease both sides by drastic temporary measures and slight changes in legislation. This may be good politics, but it falls short of sound statesmanship. The problem of labor relations is a complex one which will have to be faced sooner or later. The present set-up which encourages the use of force to settle disputes cannot go on much longer.

The continuance of "the American way of life" -- and the Canadian way of life no less -- depends on replacing industrial relations with industrial order.

Red Drive in Canada

The Communists of Canada, organized as the Labor Progressive Party under Tim Buck, are all set for a new drive. Mr. Buck made this very clear at the party's national convention in Toronto, when he announced he wanted ten thousand new members, making the party a "mass" party -- a party of Communists.

Ten thousand Communists "boring from within" could create a real state of industrial unrest and general disturbance in Canada.

A speech Mr. Buck made in Moscow in 1935 is worth recalling. Explaining then how Canadian Communists must develop strikes as a means of industrial unrest, he said that "the political value of these strikes" is greater when the Communists are present in certain industries.

The Communist Party's policy then was to develop demands in heavy industry and on the basis sharpening relations and developing strike movements. This is a reminder that this is the policy on which the Communists are working now and which they intend to develop still further.

The Third Column

REFORMING U.S. CONGRESS

By Peter Inglis

WASHINGTON Removal of the horse-and-buggy elements of the United States government system seems reasonably certain. The Wisconsin Progressive, and his special committee on the organization of congress was so overwhelming, that it is considered a mandate to the house of representatives.

Among other things, this measure to streamline congress provided:

(1) A pensions system by which members of both houses could receive of 65 with an income of up to $7,500 a year. This is a revival of a proposal which, during the war years, brought a flood of public money into the hands of the legislators. It has great potential value, especially in countering the "senility rule" by which the old men have been the most important congressional committees have gone to old forelegs.

(2) Simplification of the senate's cumbersome machinery by consolidating 33 present committees into 15, thereby vastly speeding the passage of legislation into the chamber.

(3) Establishment, for the first time, of a real budget system, by requiring adoption of annual federal estimates by both the revenue and appropriations committees of each house. This will end the glorious independence there has been in the past between the raising and the spending of money. It will also put a curb on deficit financing.

(4) Compulsory registration of lobbyists and the filing by each of statements of where money comes from and how they hand it out.

(5) Creation of majority and minority policy committees in each house would bring the United States nearer to the Canadian type of parliamentary government.

(6) Consultation between the president and his cabinet and the majority committee on matters of national policy. On major issues of policy the minority committee would also be consulted.

This would close the present gap, hard for Canadians to understand, between executive and legislative branches. It would also be an important step toward the type of party government dear to British and Canadian hearts.

Also, perhaps, taking a leaf from Ottawa's book, the senators voted for a pay raise to $15,000 a year.

Having gone that far, the senate had to draw back a little. It forced withdrawal of its cause which would have established a directorate of personnel to hire and fire legislative employees. Patronage must be preserved.

FISSION OF THE EGO

Windsor Star

Certainly there are such things as dual personalities. Let a man switch from one political party to another and he becomes, in the twinkling of an eye, both an "enlightened convert" and a "turncoat."

With the bones of Dr. Brock Chisholm's contention regarding the dangers of permitting a child to dwell in a world of fancy only recently interpreted, another psychologist has arisen to challenge tradition. Dr. George Crane, Chicago, would ignore the age-old rule applied to virtually all school rooms by permitting students to chew gum in class.

That, of course, will be misinterpreted. At first glance it might seem a sales inducement for the chewing industry. But it is more significant than that. Gum-chewing in class is a favored habit because it is forbidden. The prohibition gives even the most tasteless a subtle flavor of its own.

Dr. Crane would eliminate that tang by making the practice legal. It would probably have the same effect as opening all orchards to all small boys, who would pick the fattest apples, the hard, green apples they pilfer, if the fruit were theirs for the asking.

BIBLE MESSAGE

Blessed is the man unto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquity, and in whose heart there is no guile.... (Ps. 32: 2.)

'Boring From Within'

An official of the Canadian Seamen's Union, whose members are on strike, is "amazed" that Hon. Humphrey McCall would say the Communist crowd in this country don't want the settlement of strikes.

He would be even more "amazed" to know how many people across Canada are coming to suspect the same thing; and that the nationwide series of disturbances are the outcome of deep-laid strategy on the part of those agitators who have wormed themselves into official positions in trade unions and are using these organizations to sabotage the national effort to achieve peacetime production and prosperity.

The evidence of this is so difficult to think that it is hard to believe in causing these disturbances do not know that the Communist crowd in this country can make and maintain good times in Canada.

Nor does anyone need to be told that Moscow has been deeply in Canadian affairs. The gentlemen there were organized a spy ring at Ottawa to pry top secrets out of Government officials and research workers would not hesitate to engineer a propaganda-ring to keep the country in turmoil.

At least the circumstances are suspicious enough to suggest that members of labor organizations had been in the situation and ask themselves if it doesn't seem probable they are being taken for a ride.

Shorter Civic Work Week

Edmonton people generally will approve the action of the city council in reducing the work-week of civic employees from 48 to 44 hours. The 48 hour week is now uncommon, and the 44 hour week has in many establishments given way to the 40 hour week. Council declined to commit next year's council to make this further reduction, leaving it to that body to deal with the question in the light of the experience in the working of the present time curtailment.

The cost to the city of knocking four hours off the 48 hour week is placed at $41,000. That is half of the present year, which seems to mean that enough additional employees will have to be added to the staffs to raise the wage bill $82,000 per year. It is easily possible that the shorter week will result in efficiency and improved service to more than offset the cost.

There will be some objection to the closing of the city offices on Saturdays. It is a question of the first of August. Many people find this the most convenient day on which to visit the offices to pay taxes, light and water and phone bills, buy a lot or take out a building permit, etc. Saturday being a school holiday and the children at home, that is the day when mothers and families are best able to make a trip to the civic block.

If the hours of work could be stretched out so as to keep a corporal's guard on duty there Saturday forenoons this would be widely appreciated.

Labor's Divisions

Many Canadians wondered last week when an organization called the Canadian Federation of Labor telegraphed Labor Minister Mitchell urging him to enforce the laws requiring peaceful picketing and denouncing union activities in the seamen's strike.

It seems strange that one union organization should criticize the tactics and behavior of another.

The fact is that there are many labor organizations in Canada and their membership in 1941, as enumerated by the Department of Labor, is as follows:

Trades and Labor Congress 284,732
Canadian Congress of Labor 272,146
Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor 74,624
International Railway Brotherhoods (Independent) 36,147
Unaffiliated National and Provincial Unions 55,433
Unaffiliated Local Unions 11,211
American Federation of Labor 9,916
Canadian Federation of Labor 200

Today in Europe

by Randolph Churchill.
CANNES, France -- During the Battle of Britain, a Spitfire pilot on leave was at a party where a number of parlor games, taking no part in the war, were discussing what they were fighting for.

One exclaimed, "I am fighting to make a better world." Another, "I am fighting for the Socialist revolution." A third, "I am fighting for the destruction of capitalist society."

When all these opinions had been canvassed, one inquired of the pilot what he was fighting for. The pilot replied, "I hadn't really thought about it till you chaps started talking, but I suppose I am fighting to be able to spend my holidays in the South of France."

The pilot epitomized far more than an aspiration to visit Europe's most beautiful resorts. He was right. One can travel freely on the Continent is one of the tests of whether Europe is to be free or slave to some countries private citizens are denied all freedom of movement.

Under the British Foreign Secretary, Ernest Bevin, loves liberty and has faith in travel as a means of promoting international understanding. It seems too much to hope, with so many totalitarian governments, that he will fully succeed in his aim. There was only one country where you needed a passport or visa -- Russia. Today, under the dictatorship of a proletariat, it is still the hardest country in the world to visit.

Meanwhile, down here on the Riviera, hoteliers and restaurateurs are repairing the ravages of war and retransforming this beautiful coast into Europe's playground. Prices are still high, but not so high as in Paris. Best of all, the sun is shining and, from my window, I can see scores of British and already splashing in the blue Mediterranean.

The Road Ahead

By Harper Browne, M.L.A. -- I was happy to learn in Ottawa there is a growing realization among members and senior civil servants that the solution of the problem that subsidization of homes is the only way of solving the housing needs of those in our lower income brackets.

Two factors are actually holding up movement in the direction. First, that no reliable information exists as to where homes are most urgently needed, and with this is wrapped up the hope that many will find their way back to farms, lumber camps and mining towns.

Second, everybody at Ottawa is impressed with the huge sums being spent now by government departments. They have had a lot of pressure put on them to cut taxation, and at the same time they are being asked for every turn with increasing requests for more public spending. The result is that they must have a plan to spend up to a subsidized housing program in addition.

It is one thing to walk around the city and see the conditions in which thousands are living. It is quite another to sit behind a desk, and stare at a list of applicants of rival pressure groups. One letter will paint a pitiful picture of a deplorable condition. The same desk will be a copy of The Financial Post with a series of graphs which point out that Canadians have more homes per unit of population than at any time in history.

The answer is to decentralize authority and give to district representatives authority to act. This would give men in a position to see the need power to correct situations which now exist.

France Looks West

By R. T. Richardson
LONDON -- The latest French elections have firmly re-established the Union for the Republic as a new kind of left wing political force in European politics. It is a new kind of left wing political force in European politics. It is a new kind of left wing political force in European politics.

The new Assembly will exist for a few months only, though its chief task will be to provide a framework of government in which state control figures heavily.

French voters have turned their backs upon the old conservative forces who bear the taint of Vichyism. The only other substantial conservative group is the Republican Union. Neither is likely to figure in the new coalition. One sensation was the success of the Algerian and Moroccan delegates. Only recently released from jail, these new deputies will form a sort of Irish Nationalist bloc in the Assembly.

Foreign policy casts a long shadow over French politics. Communists have suffered from a charge of subservience to Russia. Bidault's foreign policy will continue to be the most significant factor in the new government. The recent agreement with Britain to obtain British equipment to re-arm French forces is a step in the development means the French Air Force will use British planes and train airmen in British methods.

Mr. Halsey's Turn Rug
By Bruce Hutchison

The office of Mr. Halsey in Ottawa's East Block is beginning to look as run down as a taxpayer. In Nova Scotia, Mr. Halsey's office, the furniture is old-fashioned, the walls are dingy, the rug is torn.

Up to a certain point this is according to the traditions of the East Block. It was never built for glamour. The architects of Confederation times were concerned with a sturdy and dependable kind of comfort.

As a man of Mr. Halsey's imagination, the East Block is haunted with noble ghosts who do not want the decorum changed. While it may be necessary now and then to replace a rug or repair a desk, only a vandal would disturb the patina which events have deposited through the years.

Mr. Halsey turns out that he is a new rug. When it came that the present one was badly torn the Nova Rug Company was called in. Mr. Halsey volunteered to send an expert to Ottawa to fix it. Mr. Halsey's job done cheaply, it was saved a return railway fare. The taxpayers will hope a little while that this example in the government of the finance minister will be followed in the government departments at large.

Young Delinquents Subject of Debate

LONDON—British street corner toughs are "more animal than human"—Church of England youth council report.

"There should be more getting together of the sexes. Girls go to school with women teachers and when they are let loose with men they go crazy." Megan Jones, 19, a London student.

Half Britain is more than beaten because it does not even believe in itself—Dr. C. M. Chavasse, Anglican Bishop of Rochester.

The Church of England will advertise itself and seek "to convert Britain to Christianity."—Decision of Church assembly.

"What I see today amongst our young people is a Piccadilly Circus spirit allied with the honky-tonk of the saloons of America."—Lieut. H. L. Austin, Labor M.P. for Stratford.

"I do not believe that there is any loss of moral fibre in the youth of this country."—G. H. Oliver, under-secretary for home affairs.

Thus the storms of debate rage in the United Kingdom over the question of juvenile delinquency. The sharpest commentary on the situation came in the Anglican youth council report which said the street corner toughs, "more animal than human," had such a lack of knowledge of Christianity that Good Friday suggested only "pancakes," "Robinson Crusoe's friend" or "one of Robin Hood's gang."

The boys and girls of the streets were the greatest problem faced by social workers in industrial districts, said the report, describing how they "from time to time shoulder their way into evening institutes and open clubs on dancing nights and, after snapping a billiard cue or pulling a door off its hinges, are ejected with the help of police."

Situation Exaggerated

Mr. Oliver, speaking for the home office which deals with crime and its prevention, said the problem of juvenile delinquency tended to become "a little exaggerated."

He said the abnormal circumstances of war had caused an unexpected increase in juvenile offences. The group of indictable offences in which juveniles under 17 were found guilty in 1940 showed an increase of 37 percent compared with 1939.

"The year 1942 was the peak year of the war with 42 percent. In 1943 the figure fell to 35 percent and in 1944 was slightly less again. It was anticipated the figure in 1945 would be back to that of 1939."

Lieut. Austin had suggested children under 16 be barred from public dances. Mr. Oliver asked if Lieut. Austin would suggest "that there is anything immoral in going to a dance." He said he did not think the house would approve a ban on young people going to motion pictures, nor would there be any purpose in the home office seeking legislation prohibiting children from going to places of entertainment such as greyhound race-tracks and amusement arcades.

To show he hoped for a permanent peace, Rev. J. H. Musician's Family Makes Own Violins

TORONTO.—The Stradivari family, famous 18th century violin-makers, may have their counterpart in the Innes family of Toronto who are playing instruments of their own making in Toronto music circles today.

James Innes, Sr., a member of the Toronto symphony orchestra, learned to make violins in Canada under a teacher named Kincaid who, like the famous Antonio Stradivari, took the secret of his special varnish with him when he died.

Along with devising a varnish formula of his own, Mr. Innes taught 17-year-old James, Jr., the rudiments of the craft and after 20 years' work, which kept his spare time occupied from August until after Christmas, the younger Innes finished his first violin.

James, Jr., has used the instrument in his weekly work in the radio show where he took the place of his father who had to give up the instrument during the symphony season.

Another son, Bob, formerly of the R.C.A.P., also learned instrument making from his father. He is now making a violin with a waiting permission to go to the United States where he has a job with the chief violin-maker of a famous instrument-making company.

Mr. Innes, Sr., thinks that Canadian spruce and curly maple, the woods used in his violins, are just as good as those from Europe and perhaps better as in some cases they are harder. Each violin gets about eight coats of varnish with long drying periods between each coating.

He believes that modern violins are just as good as those made by the old masters, but the moderns will not get recognition until they have been dead and buried a long time.

Britain Backs Plan To Attract Tourists

LONDON.—A drive to bring an unprecedented flow of tourists to Great Britain in 1947 is in the making, with backing from hotels, transportation companies, municipalities and the government.

In hopes of attracting heavy expenditures of foreign exchange, the Travel Association of Great Britain and Ireland is preparing a giant publicity campaign for 1946, chiefly in the form of moving pictures, the first of which will be released this spring.

Finances are raised by contributions from members. Lending full support to the drive, the government is doubling its usual contribution and duplicating each £1 subscribed.

Japs Planned Giant Bombers For Attacks on Western U.S.

(Released by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

TOKYO.—The Japanese were experimenting with a giant six-engine bomber with which to attack the United States from the sub-strathosphere when the war ended. Intelligence officers have discovered evidence of these experiments along with facts about a mysterious navy task force whose planes actually were over Seattle during May and June of 1942, and which caused alerts all along the west coast.

The superbomber, which the Japanese said was capable of making a non-stop flight from Hokkaido to the western part of the United States, was one of the few planes in the development of which the Japanese army and navy got together.

The craft, which had not gone into general production, was called the Fugaka. It weighed 225,000 pounds, had pressurized cabin, 8,000 horsepower engines and was intended to reach an altitude of 42,000 feet.

Interviews with Commander Okuma, Minister of the Japanese naval air staff disclosed that the planes which alerted the western United States were scout ships catapulted from submarines which carried them inside their hulls. They made reconnaissance hops over Seattle harbor and Alaska's Dutch Harbor to determine the amount of shipping at anchor.

The main mission of the task force, the Jap commander said, was to attack Alaska and then invade the western Aleutians to provide diversions from the main effort against Midway. When the battle of Midway ended disastrously, Admiral Yamamoto wanted to cancel the Aleutian invasion plan which called for landings at Attu, Kiska and Adak. Other admirals, however, talked him into going through with the occupation of Attu and Kiska.

New City Homes Near 1,100 Mark

Edmonton's 1946 home-building program swung close to the 1,100 mark Thursday when the Prudham Construction Co. took out a master permit for 317,000 covering the erection of 32 one-family dwellings at Connors Heights.

Recently the company purchased several acres of land at Connors Heights from the city on which it was proposed to erect 80 homes, and neighborhood stores. The permit taken out Thursday is for the first unit of the plan.

A PERMIT FOR $140,000 was issued to C. Woodward Ltd. for a reinforced concrete warehouse to be erected at 9810 103 avenue.

Nu-West Homes Ltd. took four permits each for 4,500 covering dwellings being erected in the 103 block on 127 street, and S. Aldrich four permits for homes, each costing $3,000 at various locations.

Since Jan. 1 this year, 1,051 permits have been issued for the erection of homes, the value of the permits being $2,774,875. This compares with 520 homes with a permit value of $1,800,000 for the same period last year.

It has been estimated that the odds against a person in the temperate zone being struck by lightning are 1,200,000 to 1.

Action Dismissed By Supreme Court

Supreme court action brought by Wasy and Mrs. Anna Liptak, Beverly residents seeking damages from Edwin I. Clarke and Mrs. Jean Clarke, former owners of the Beverly Coal Co., for subsidence damage to their home caused by the company's coal mining operations, was dismissed by Mr. Justice A. P. Ewing in a judgment handed down Thursday. The judge held that damage to the plaintiffs' house was not caused by mining subsidence, but "as the evidence seems to establish, the damage was caused by settlement resulting from faulty construction."

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

IF WOMEN knew how much figure improvement can be accomplished by exercise I fear they would not get their housework done, so I suppose it is just as well they don't!

For instance, the inner side of the upper leg becomes flabby early in life unless steps are taken to avoid it. Much can be done to sidestep this condition or to improve it. When women wear play clothes or swim suits this unattractive leg line is much in evidence.

The following exercise is splendid for the inner leg. Take four LONG steps forward. Then bounce up and down in place four times, bending the knees about a third of the way down. Continue.

ANOTHER ONE: Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor at your sides. Lift the legs half way upward with stiff knees. Swing the legs apart as far as comfortable. Swing them together. Continue separating them and bringing them together. When tired, rest and then repeat.

Some women wish to fill out contour on the upper inner leg because they have an upper leg "bow-legged" appearance. This exercise will aid you in firming and in building contour on the upper inner leg. Sit on the floor with your legs separated. Place a brick or some other weight on the inside of your left foot. Lie down. Now push the brick until it touches your right foot. Keep the knees stiff. Separate the legs, sit up, and again place the brick on the inside of the left foot. Lie down. Push the brick toward the right foot. Continue for a while and then place the brick on the inside of the right foot and push it along the floor until it touches the left foot.

LYING DOWN AND SITTING UP
will give your stomach and waistline a work out while the brick laying will help the inner leg line.

If you wish to have my exercises for correcting the most usual faults in leg contour send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 13 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

For reducing the upper legs on the inside the exercise being demonstrated by Actress Suzi Crandall is recommended by Josephine Lowman.

Hunger Makes Hitlers

► The people of Europe are hungry.
► Extreme hunger is one thing a man cannot get away from. Every minute, day and night, it stays with him, dominates his talk, distorts his mind, haunts his dreams. Inevitably he begins to despise his way of life. Driven to extremes of thought and action, he will be ready to follow any leader promising "a new world order."

► Hunger makes Hitlers.

► We promised that with victory would come food. We have just renewed that pledge. This promise is a message of hope—hope for a better tomorrow. It is our strongest weapon to combat despair. By delivering this food we will, with peaceful means, deny tomorrow's dictators. We will preserve humanity for peace.

► As a witness to scenes of starvation in Europe, I can assure you that for many our help is already very late. As a manufacturer of food, I can tell you that the greatest reserve from which starvation can be halted is in the United States.

► What can each of us do about it?

► Follow the food-saving suggestions of the President's Famine Emergency Committee below. You may think your saving is small but your saving multiplied by millions of others will help make the United States the granary of democracy, the leader among the nations who are working through the UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION.

► Write your Congressman and ask him to use every means at his disposal to speed shipments of food to Europe.

► The future belongs to those who prove themselves the true friends of mankind.

John F. Kennedy
President, H. J. Hunt Company

Here is what you can do to save vitally needed food:

- Never waste bread. Make three loaves do the work of five.
- Serve potatoes more often. Try potato pancakes, potato soup and potato salads.
- Substitute fruits and other desserts for cakes and pastry.
- Serve oatmeal often. One serving equals two slices of bread in food value.
- Serve open-face sandwiches and pies.

- Use less wheat cereals and other wheat products.
- Save and re-use fats and oils.
- Serve fewer fried foods.
- Salvage all fats that can't be re-used and turn them in to your butcher or grocer.
- Use fewer oil dressings—more bottled dressings for salads.

Urge Canada Admit Displaced Persons

PETERBOROUGH, Ont., June 14 (CP) — The Ontario-Quebec Baptist convention has passed a resolution urging the federal government to relax immigration restrictions to permit entry of certain classes of persons but to bar the door to "all those in any way tainted with revolutionary and anti-religious activities, both Communist and fascist, that would involve a threat to the very foundations of Christian democracy."

The convention asked "prompt and merciful admission of a fair share of refugees and displaced persons, particularly those of peasant origin."

Delegates voted unanimously to appoint a special committee to consider coast-to-coast broadcasting of Baptist sermons. Suggestion for the committee came from Rev. Archie Wood, Toronto.

Man and Girl, 25, Plunge to Deaths

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP) — A former garage owner and a 25-year-old girl short story writer plunged to their deaths 45 minutes apart from a ninth story room of the Lafayette Hotel, two blocks from the White House. The girl, clad only in pink panties, landed on the second floor roof of the hotel dining room soon after midnight. The man, dressed in underwear shorts, followed in a fatal leap after a long argument through the barricaded door of his room with two policemen who sought to dissuade him.

U.S. Senator Butler Wins Re-nomination

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP) — Senator Hugh A. Butler has won re-nomination handily over Governor Dwight Griswold in Nebraska to cloud Harold E. Stassen's prospects for the state's Republican convention votes in 1948. In another primary contest Senator Charles C. Goss (Dem-Ida) was unseated by Senator George E. Donat, supported by Senator Goss's Democratic colleague, Senator Glen Taylor.

Plan Dairy Course For War Veterans

A diploma course in dairying for ex-service personnel will be conducted at the University of Alberta from Oct. 28 to April 30. It has been announced. The course is limited to 20 students who have a minimum of Grade 11 standing or its equivalent, and a minimum of one season's experience in a dairy plant. Veterans attending are entitled to vocational training benefits under the Post-Discharge Re-establishment Act.

Eleven dairying subjects will be covered in the course. There is no fee necessary other than a medical fee. Assistance will be available in locating living accommodation for students. However, personnel are advised not to bring their wives to the city because of the very limited accommodation.

Rain Brings Boys Flood of Nickles

CHICAGO, June 14 (AP) — A downpour of rain brought a flood of nickels — and no little excitement — to three boys who set up a wooden plank "toll bridge" at a flooded south side viaduct.

With water almost at sidewalk level, James Woods, 15, Pat Calahan, 15, and Bob Smith, 14, placed a long plank across the street to wear sidewalk and any car or truck crossing the plank would have to cross the plank for a nickel each.

"THEIR FERRY STATION" was doing a land-office business when a male pedestrian announced he wouldn't pay the toll. He started across the plank, but one of the youthful proprietors pulled him off. The pedestrian gave fight and Wood's father, Martin, joined in the short struggle.

The elder Woods said "anyone who doesn't want to pay can walk a couple of blocks south or north and cross the street without getting his feet wet."

CITY VISITOR

PLAN BROADCASTS

TORONTO, June 14 (AP) — A new committee on radio broadcasting has been set up by the Presbyterian general assembly and was given power to proceed with the Dominion-wide broadcasts in the coming autumn and spring. The committee will elect its own governor from members representing presbyteries in all parts of Canada.

ADMIT SABOTAGE

JERUSALEM, June 14 (Reuters) — Irwin Zee, Leumi secretary of Jewish military organization, has acknowledged responsibility for Monday's attacks on three passenger trains in Palestine. Stubborn Baby

CHICAGO, June 14 (AP) — Memo, a two-year-old, 1,500-pound female hippopotamus, is a stubborn baby, say attendants at Brookfield zoo. Director Robert Bean and 11 helpers prepared to ship Memo to the Pittsburgh Zoological Society which purchased her for $2,500. For four hours Bean and his helpers tried unsuccessfully to get Memo to enter a crate through a side door of the pachyderm house. Then they moved the crate to the rear door. Memo walked right into the crate.

'Big Train' Johnson

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

Walter Johnson was practically booed out of old League Park, Cleveland, in August, 1935, for doing the best he could with what he had.

It's too bad that the Big Train did not hang on for another year because then the greatest pitcher who ever lived would have managed the boy who generally is considered the closest approach to him, Bob Feller.

Johnson was as nice a fellow as he was a pitcher, however, too decent and soft-spoken to handle a lot of roughneck ball players.

Alva Bradley offered to make him vice president and general manager of the Indians, but Barney had enough.

Johnson generally is rated the saddy of them all despite the fact that everybody in the park knew what he was going to throw, and that the batter was perfectly safe in swinging at it.

A pendulum arm swung from Johnson's shoulder that propelled the pellet like a slingshot. The large Kanan's sweeping, effortless delivery was a little lower than that of a side-arm pitcher. The ball was either fast or faster.

HAD there been a mean streak in Johnson, batters would not have dared to leave the dugout. But Barney had remarkable control—especially for one so swift—and not once in 20 years did he dust off a batter.

Shortly before the fine Cleveland shortstop was killed by Carl Mays' bean ball in 1920, Billy Evans called a second strike on Ray Chapman in a game pitched by Johnson. Chapman started for the bench.

"You have another strike coming," Johnson said.

Johnson threw a light, live ball which was as easy to catch as it was difficult to hit. To make things still more unpleasant for batters, Eddie Ainsworth whistled as the ball shot into his glove.

Johnson might have gone on for another half dozen years had not a blow off Joe Judge's bat fractured the pitcher's left leg during spring training in Tampa in 1927. When Johnson took over the Cleveland club in 1923 at the age of 45, in batting practice he was still the swiftest pitcher in the business.

Johnson had to pitch overhand to throw a curve, and consequently everybody, including the ticket takers at the gates, knew when one was coming.

Checks Weight

Lennart Strand, Sweden's top amateur miler, checks his weight at 133 pounds in New York A. C. gymnasium after workout in Central Park. He's on way to Compton, Junior College Relays in California.

RIVAL ATTRACTION - At recent Artie Levine-Charles Padalino bout in Cleveland, Ohio, the fighters had a strong rival for fan's attention in screen star Carol Landis, pictured above in her ring-side seat.

Declaring that the American Federation of Musicians has approximately $1,000,000 to "spend" for the benefit of its members, James C. Petrillo, above, head of the music union, said that an all-out fight against "anti-labor" legislation would be mapped by 1400 delegates to the organization's national convention in St. Petersburg, Fla.

BEAUTIES' HINTS Camera Make-Up Emphasizes Eyes

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

WHEN you have your picture taken, anything in make-up goes, so long as it gives you great big beautiful eyes. Glorified orbs, as any photographer will tell you, can make a beautiful face more breath-taking and even a less lovely one something to make Joe's vest better pop.

To make eyes look bigger and more bee-yu-tiful for the camera, take an eyebrow pencil and draw a line just inside of the lashes on the upper and lower lids. But use a brown pencil—a black will mark too heavily and make your eyes look like a siren's in the old silent films.

Blend each line drawn into the softest of shadows. Then apply a tiny bit of eyeshadow to the center of the lids and upward toward the brow.

Starch your lashes with mascara, painstakingly singling out one at a time so that the fringe stands out like an unfurled fan.

DEFROSTING IN A HURRY

TIME consuming task of defrosting the refrigerator—often a weekly chore in summer—can be done in minutes instead of hours when an infra red lamp is used to melt the ice from the freezing unit. After the refrigerator current is turned off, the light is held a few inches from the unit and in about five minutes the ice has dissolved into the drip pan. Warning to those who adopt this speedy short cut: don't let the hot lamp touch the icy water or the glass shield may shatter.

Before the Magistrate

Harvey Alexander Greene was fined $75 and costs in city court before Magistrate A.L. Millar, K.C., on Thursday when he appeared before a charge laid under the War Mobilization Act. Court was told that the young man had failed to notify the mobilization board of a change of address in 1944, and had succeeded in evading a draft call until his arrest by Constable R. Duncan, RCMP, and Canadian Army Provost Corps men this week. Both Greene and his family "had been most uncooperative," court was told.

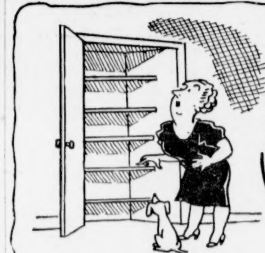

Lloyd McMahon was sentenced to four months imprisonment on an intoxication charge Thursday, while seven other persons arraigned on similar charges were fined a total of $190 and costs.

Breaches of the vehicle and highway traffic act proved expensive for 12 motorists who pleaded guilty to traffic violations Thursday. The paid fines of $37 together with more than $40 in costs.

HUNGRY for Cotton

WAR ate up a lot of cotton—in military clothing, tents, tarpaulins, a thousand war uses—millions of yards of fabric, millions of pounds of yarn.

And, of course, war needs had to be served first.

Now that the war is over, it's the civilian market that's hungry for cotton—cotton for sheets and shirts, for dresses and underwear and for dozens of industrial uses.

The gap between supply and demand is world-wide. In Canada, though our mills are doing their utmost, it will take months for the cotton industry to catch up.

WE shall continue to distribute our production on a quota basis, playing no favorites.

Plan Intensified Clothing Drive

Edmonton citizens desirous of doing their bit in aiding the peoples of war-torn European countries, will be given the opportunity. An intensive drive for clothing will be launched in the city from June 17 to 27.

James Long, chairman of the Edmonton committee, has announced that the committee has been working night and day in preparation for the campaign. More than 600 boys scouts will take part in a door-to-door canvass of the city. Pick-up hours will be between 6 and 9 p.m.

MORE THAN 150 trucks have been secured for pick-up purposes and will be manned by war veterans. A depot has been established at the old Edmonton curling rink, at the north end of the High Level bridge, where Polish veterans will be in charge of loading and unloading.

The committee requests that shoes be donated in pairs and tied together. Clothing must be in a reasonable state of repair.

Home Ransacked

Angus Milne, 10096 149 street, is getting fed up with the weekly visit being made to his home by a thief. Two weeks ago the Milne family returned to find the home had been broken into and $1 stolen from a wallet. A week later $35 disappeared and Tuesday night the family returned after visiting friends to find the home had been broken into for the third time and completely ransacked. Contents of drawers were scattered over the rooms, but nothing was missing.

Damages of $3,500 Given for Injuries

Damages totalling $3,500 were awarded by Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor to Miss Doris Roe, Edmonton, for injuries received when she fell while skating at the Silver Glade Roller Bowl. In a written judgment the jurist found that operators of the roller skating rink were negligent in not providing toe straps to make the skates secure on patrons' feet. There was evidence at the trial that other patrons had fallen because of lack of toe straps. Miss Roe suffered a fracture of the spine, and will be permanently injured.
